

Talking Birds with the Centres for the History of Medicine in Dublin and Warwick present

38 city arcade

shop front theatre

A Malady of Migration

A theatrical examination of diaspora, displacement and mental disorders in the 19th century

This land is cruel and unforgiving and many more have gone where I go, to seek not wealth but fairer living across the sea and far from Sligo

Thurs 26 – Sat 28 June 2014 1pm and 7pm

Shopfront Theatre, 38 City Arcade, Coventry CV1 3HW (opposite Argos)

Tickets: £6 (£3) – 1pm, £8 (£6) – 7pm

Box Office: 0845 680 1926

Thursday evening show followed by expert panel discussion and reception. Saturday lunchtime show followed by post show discussion.

For CAPTIONING (subtitles) via mobile devices, email de@talkingbirds.co.uk in advance warwick.ac.uk/maladyofmigration talkingbirds.co.uk

 @birdmail #migration

Please be advised that this production contains references to mental health issues and historical practices which may be considered sensitive.
Age guidance: 12 and over talking birds

Centre for the History of Medicine in Ireland

wellcome trust

Supported using public funding by ARTS COUNCIL
ENGLAND

Centre for the History of Medicine

THE UNIVERSITY OF WARWICK