Comments

Exposure to classic results and workhorse models in political economy is obviously necessary, but might have been nice to see more of what the modern literature is doing

EC9D3: Microeconomics B

Hand writing in the video could be improved. Sometimes students get confused One lecture hour per week may not be enough, I think offline teaching is much better than online recording for students to understand and remember so much new concepts.

I think it would be better if there was more explanation of the slides in the non-synchronous lectures.
