

MOHAMMAD BILAL
LLM in IDLHR
2014-2015
Nationality: Indian

What were you doing prior to starting your course at Warwick?

Before coming to Warwick I was pursuing my LLB from Faculty of Law, Delhi University. I also did my Bachelor's in Psychology from Delhi University prior to that.

What does your current course involve?

My current course is a critique and analysis of what development actually stands for in the International or global scenario. It provides a different perspective to the commonly understood notions of modernity, development, justice and world ideologies. Exploring the concept of human rights in these notions we try to decipher major problems facing the world in this epoch, their reasons and a possible solution for them.

What are your aspirations for the future?

I want to explore more about the concepts that we study at this level by pursuing a research or joining a human rights organisation which actually works for the betterment of humanity.
