

VARUN LAMBA
LLM ICGFR
2008-2009
Nationality: Indian

What were you doing prior to starting your course at Warwick?

I was committed to pursue law from the very beginning. Prior to joining Warwick, I completed my Bachelors of Law degree (B.A., LL.B) from the Institute of Law and Management Studies, Gurgaon, India, which was a 5 year course from 2003 to 2008. During the course of my Bachelor's degree (from 2005 to 2008), I was also working as para-legal for a corporate law firm by the name of Kaden Boriss in New Delhi, India. I did so for two reasons: (a) I was always inclined towards pursuing corporate law and wanted to gain experience, and (b) The work experience so gained would assist me in pursuing my Masters of Law degree since it was important to understand the interplay between theory and practice.

What have you been doing since completing your course at Warwick?

After completing my LL.M. degree from Warwick, I came back to India and joined a corporate law firm by the name of AZB & Partners in New Delhi ("AZB"). AZB is one of the "BIG 4" of India. My areas of practice include general corporate advisory and mergers and acquisitions which is what I studied during my LL.M. degree.